UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT DISTRICT OF MAINE

BRENT ELISENS, Plaintiff Case No. 1:25-cv-00647

v.

KCCF, et al., Defendants

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

MOTION FOR COURT APPOINTED CO-COUNSEL

I wrote software to clear Maine's exploitative system's backlog because other victims of it are languishing in jail for many reasons they don't need to be(unable to afford ~$100 bail, etc). https://github.com/sixie6e/OpenJustice I also didn't need $17.5 Million to do it. I actually spend my time trying to do things to help other life on the planet instead of trying to find wording to subjugate and exploit it harder. Judges do not have the time to go back to previous motions. I would prefer to send my motions through co-counsel so that they can get my point across yet within the wording of your scribblings, and not have to file corrected motions when I find things out later that I did not know. Apparently, wealthy, American authority didn't dismiss KCCF administration from the suit because the kites don't exist; she dismissed them because the text didn't specifically spell out a policy or custom by KCCF. This means that the court permits the jail to do horrendous things, as long as they don't do it to everyone. They have to single people out. Rulings like Stacey's create the custom. Facility admins see wealthy authority will scribble anything to protect them from legal accountability. Additionally, if a facility does not interfere with medical department policies in that facility, is that not a policy or custom? Or is it just that I didn't spell it out? Either way, there are going to be more instances like this in the future because State employees are not seeking to assist in fairness, but fairness according to things previously written by wealthy attorneys to protect the system and its institutions, and only if the plaintiff(in this instance) doesn't happen to catch it or point it out. KCCF ignored and/or refused to do anything with the kites AND grievances. Then Stacey Neumann says they aren't liable, like it didn't happen. Does she think her or my words make what happened somehow different than it actually was?

I want to say lots of things about them, their system, their daily behaviors and routines that created this depraved, apathetic, corporate, utilitarian, authoritarian society. It will seep into almost every single sentence. I'm insolent and I'd rather have someone else tell them how garbage this social area of the planet is, but politely. I notice that Americans and their system are actively exploiting and destroying life and resources around the entire planet, yet they cry about how someone talks to them. Small life, forest life, marine life, human life...then they get mad at words. Combine 21st century technology with the value framework of the 14th century England and you get the United States. They aren't good people, no matter how nice their suits and haircuts are. Some of us don't have to play dress up or wear costumes to present and discuss facts. I receive SSDI for PTSD , results of a socioeconomic hellscape Americans created with those aforementioned daily behaviors and routines. Financial conditions aside, co-counsel will help translate and mediate. I don't want to interact with flag worshipers period, but it's more important that KCCF(and similar) not be able to do that to people, even other flag worshipers.
